Total, each name counted but once	158

The attendance for the college year 1904–05 is 56 larger than for the preceding year. Of this increase, 32 belonged to the regular year that closed June 15, 1905; the remainder belonged to the summer term held from June 19 to July 26, 1905. It is the present intention to hold a summer term of at least six weeks each year. The number enrolled for the summer term of 1905 was 51, and the work was very successful and encouraging. The work was under the control of the board of trustees, and full credit was given for it upon the college records.

TEACHERS IN THE SUMMER TERM OF 1905

John D. Holcomb, M. S., Professor of Mathematics, Rio Grande College, Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry.

David Archie Ward, B. S., Professor of Physics and Chemistry, Rio Grande College, Latin, Pedagogy, History, and Civics.

Simeon Hutsinpiller Bing, Superintendent Porter-Bidwell Public Schools, Grammar, Literature, Physiology, and Geography.

Carrie S. Davis, B. S., Rio Grande, Ohio, Organ and Piano.

James Anderson Criner, Died May 24, 1905.
Oscar Samuel Shaffer, Died June 25, 1905.

COURSE IN INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC.

PIANO.

IN accordance with instructions from the Board of Trustees, the following course in music has been prepared. On the satisfactory completion of the course a suitable diploma will be given. Those who complete any part of the course will receive on request a written statement of the work done. It is hoped that by means of this course of study a larger number of music students will reduce their work to system.

No especial time is set for the completion of the different grades. The time required will depend upon the ability and faithfulness of the student. The student beginning with the rudiments and making ordinary progress can complete the course in four years, taking two lessons a week.

Grade I.

Instruction begins in Köhler's Preparatory or New England Conservatory Methods.

CUMMINGS—Rudiments of Music.

ALOYS SCHMITT—Preparatory Exercises.

STEPHEN HELLER—Etudes, Op. 47.

CLEMENTI—Sonatinas.
SCHUMANN—Album for the Young, Op. 68.

Grade II.

MASON & MATTHEWS—Primer of Music.
EMERY—Elements of Harmony, with Supplementary Exercises.
HELLER—Etudes, Op. 45.
J. S. BACH—Little Preludes and Fugues.
MOZART—Sonatas.
Technic, Carl Tausig, with selections from Czerny.

Grade III.

J. B. CRAMER—Etudes, selected.
J. S. BACH—2- and 3-part inventions.
MENDELSSOHN—Songs without Words.
HELLER—Etudes, Op. 16.
BEETHOVEN—Three easy Sonatas, selected.
EMERY—Harmony completed.
KULLAK—School of Octaves, first book.
E. PAUER.—Musical forms.
CHOPIN—Waltzes, selected.

Grade IV.

CLEMENTI-TAUSIG—Gradus ad Parnassum.
KULLAK—School of Octaves, book second.
HENSELT—Etudes, Op. 2.
CHOPIN—Preludes, Op. 28 and Mazurkas selected.
BEETHOVEN—Three Sonatas, selected, of medium difficulty.
SCHUMANN—Fantasiestücke, Op. 12.
RITTER—History of Music.
Elementary work in Counterpoint begun.
Concert pieces and etudes selected during the course.
Technic, from Tausig and Czerny.

Rio Grande College

THE COURSES OF STUDY.

I. English and Normal Course.

No better statement of the nature and design of this course can be made than the following, which is taken from the first catalogue of the college:—

This course is intended more especially for those who wish to prepare for teaching in the public schools, and will include instruction in the common English branches and the best methods of organizing schools and classes and imparting instruction. As classes will be organized in this department each term, students can enter the course at any time and assume the standing for which they are qualified. Those who shall pass a satisfactory examination in the required studies, having been at least two terms in this institution, will be entitled to diplomas indicating the completion of the course and literary fitness for teaching.

II. The Preparatory Courses.

There are two preparatory courses,—the scientific and the classical. The first is two years long, the second three. Although the primary purpose of the preparatory courses, as is indicated by the name "preparatory," is to lead to the collegiate courses, yet they are complete courses in themselves. They are made up of carefully selected and naturally arranged studies. The college advises young persons who do not design to complete a collegiate course or who do not feel able to do so, to follow one of the preparatory courses as laid down in this catalogue. A more thorough and practical training will thus be secured, than by taking an equal number of studies selected by the student. The preparatory course thoroughly studied and well mastered is worth far more to the student than a larger number of branches hastily and superficially studied. Besides, the student often enlarges his plan as he advances. When this is the case, he can at once follow his enlarged plan without delay or inconvenience.

III. The Collegiate Courses.

There are two collegiate courses,— the classical and the scientific, each four years in length. They are equal to the courses prescribed by the best Western colleges. These two courses are fully set forth in the schedules printed elsewhere in this catalogue.

THE EDUCATIONAL POLICY OF THE COLLEGE.

Rio Grande College endeavors to occupy the proper place in that great system of American education which is now clearly defined in its outline. This position is intermediate. Below the college are the common schools, the high schools, and the preparatory schools. It would be well if all appropriate work of these lower schools could be done in them. But, as it is not, most colleges have, of necessity, a preparatory department. While there are disadvantages in this, still the unity in intellectual work which is secured by having the collegiate work done by the same teachers that have conducted the preparatory work is a compensating advantage.

In the collegiate course the aim has been well expressed by a leading American college president, as follows:—

"To produce scholars whose knowledge of ancient and modern languages and literatures, higher mathematics, experimental science, political and economic history, psychology, ethics, and sociology, enables them to grasp the principles of law or medicine or politics or theology; to guide social progress and form public opinion; to enjoy the companionship of wise and good men of all lands and ages; and to appreciate the results in some department of scientific investigation or historical research."

Above the college is the university, whose work it is to train and develop those select scholars who are not simply to appropriate the things already known, but to advance the knowledge of truth in some chosen field of study.

In taking and holding this high but intermediate position, Rio Grande College aims to do its appropriate work for its students. Its success in this is demonstrated by the practical ability shown by its graduates in various forms of work, and by the excellent work done by those graduates who have taken university and professional studies.

THE RELIGIOUS POLICY OF THE COLLEGE.

The trustees and teachers consider true religion to be the foundation of the most valuable intellectual attainments, and use all the means in their power to promote sound Christian principles among the students. In the words of the articles of association, the college was founded "to promote Christian education." A system of education that develops only the intellect and appeals only to worldly motives is partial and incomplete. Those who are thus educated cannot have the highest form of personal worth or perform the best work for their fellow-men.

The work of inculcating religious principles and forming Christian character is pursued in no narrow and illiberal way.

DENOMINATIONAL CHARACTER AND RELIGIOUS WORK.

The preamble to the constitution of the college says that the purpose of its trustees will be to give, under Christian influence, a scientific, literary, and classical education. An article in the constitution requires two-thirds of the members of the board of trustees to be members of the Freewill Baptist church. From the beginning it has been the ruling idea in the work of the college that personal loyalty to Christ is the only true foundation for sound intellectual acquirements, and the only preparation for the right use of such acquirements in our divinely appointed work in life. While there has been no regular system of theological instruction, yet at different times instruction of this kind has been given such as the circumstances called for and made possible. About thirty men who have entered the Christian ministry, over half of them in the Freewill Baptist church, have received all or an important part of their training here.

In the light of the facts above enumerated in regard to the denominational and religious character of the college, the duty of the churches to patronize it and help increase its usefulness is apparent. This duty belongs in an especial degree to ministers. One of the most important duties of the Christian pastor is to guide the minds of the young members of his charge toward the most thorough and generous preparation for their life-work.

FREE TUITION FOR MINISTERIAL STUDENTS.

As a contribution to an enlightened and progressive Christianity, the trustees of the college give free tuition to properly accredited candidates for the Christian ministry without regard to their denominational connection. In doing this they feel that they make a legitimate claim to the support of Christian ministers and Christian people. They ask such persons to note this fact, and call the attention of young men contemplating the ministry to this provision. This course admits only to the regular academic work of the college, not to special theological studies or to instruction in music.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARY.

The college library now contains 3,500 volumes. The liberal gifts of Mr. W. H. Davis and Mr. Horace Granfield have been of great value. The library is especially well supplied with works of reference and with works on the history of the United States.

GEOLOGICAL CABINET.

The geological cabinet is the most complete and valuable single collection in the college. The specimens are mounted, classified, labeled, and protected from dust. They illustrate almost every formation described in the standard text-books on geology. Valuable additions are made every year; among the more recent is a box of beautiful crystals to be used with the microscope. Iron ore, coal, and various clays are mined within a few miles of the college. In teaching this subject, constant and thorough use is made of the cabinet.

ZOOLOGICAL CABINET.

This cabinet is small but helpful. It contains some salt-water animals, shells, birds, and nests, some of the smaller vertebrates in alcohol, etc. In the insect world, the specimens are largely obtained fresh for each class. Students provide themselves with a simple microscope, while compound microscopes and field-glasses are furnished by the school. This study has been required in the Junior Preparatory course since 1895, and the pupils of this class are frequently taken to the woods, fields, or streams to study birds and their ways, to gather specimens of insects, to learn the food and habits of their larvæ, etc. Several fine specimens of marine animals have been donated by Miss Brockett within the past year.

ILLUSTRATIVE APPARATUS FOR TEACHING PHYSICS AND ELECTRICITY.

The following new material has been added to this department the present year: a Ritchie lever air pump, pole changer, Wheatstone slide wire bridge, electro magnet, magneto bell ringer, transmitter, receiver, tangent galvanometer, Trowbridge galvanometer with accessories; extra coils, mirror needle, damping well, glass window; rotating magnet, storage battery, bichromate battery of four cells, dry battery; zinc, copper, and lead electrodes; five pounds of mercury, and copper wire of every size.

The college now has for this work, in addition to the above, an Edison lamp, telegraph instrument, telephone instrument, induction coils, electric motor, rheostat, dynamo, seven-in-one vacuum tube, force pump, balances, air-pressure tube; and Leclanche, Bunsen, gravity, Daniel batteries.

The subject of electricity is now taught as a separate and distinct branch of study in the Senior year of the Scientific Course. The work covers one term. The text-book adopted is "Jackson's Electricity and Magnetism." The method adopted for class-room work divides the time equally between the subject matter of the text-book and practical laboratory work.

SURVEYING INSTRUMENTS.

For the practical teachings of civil engineering the college possesses a first-class surveying instrument, with leveling rods, chains, and draughting instruments. That very thorough work is done in this study is shown by the fact that the engineering of the turnpikes which have been built in Gallia and Jackson Counties has been done almost wholly by students of this school. The aim of this department is to combine the practical with the theoretical. Much time is spent in the field in running lines, locating corners, and laying out roads and ditches for tile draining.

DEGREES AND DIPLOMAS.

Those who complete the Classical Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts; those who complete the Scientific Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Science. Graduates of not less than three years' standing who have maintained professional, literary, or scientific work and study, upon application receive respectively the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science. Those graduates who have received these advanced degrees are indicated in the list of graduates given elsewhere. A graduation fee of five dollars is charged for each of the above degrees. A graduation fee of two dollars is charged to those who complete the English and Normal Course, and three dollars to those who complete the Music Course. Diplomas are given in all the above cases.

MUSIC.

In the department of Instrumental Music pupils of all grades are received and taught. Special attention and care are given to beginners and those who come to us with little or no knowledge of the rudiments and foundation of musical structure.

Harmony and history of music are taught free of any expense to the pupil except for books.

We do not claim to make musicians in the fullest meaning of the word, for they are born, not made; but we do claim to develop the artistic in every pupil, and any one satisfactorily completing the course may in one year's time graduate from the New England Conservatory of Music.

A good education being absolutely necessary for a musical education, special care is taken to develop the technic of the student. Classes in Mason's "Touch and Technic" will be formed for any who may desire to make this a special study.

The training of the memory is of great importance, and all the work performed in public is required to be thoroughly memorized, as well as all technical work.

Upon graduation the pupil will be required to perform a concerto, which will be selected by the teacher of music.

In the voice-training department the Italian method is in the main used, but it is not strictly adhered to. The aim is to develop the voice in its full power, to train the ear, and teach the pupil to sing intelligently and acceptably.

Public recitals are given to enable the pupils to appear at ease when singing or playing in public.

In both the vocal and instrumental departments the system of private lessons is used.

The rental for piano or organ is so small ($1.50 per term for each hour) that it enables the student to practice as many hours a day as health will permit, without incurring great expense.

While many come to study music only, they often find it profitable to take one or more studies in college. The music pupils are under college discipline, and enjoy the college reading-room, library, and other privileges.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

The college owns three good upright pianos and one Chicago cottage organ.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two literary societies, the Shakespearian and the Ciceronian. They hold weekly sessions on Monday evening. They are rich sources of profit to the students.

COLLEGE Y. M. C. A.

Since its organization in 1882 the college Y. M. C. A. has been an important auxiliary to the work of the college. Under its auspices a prayer meeting is held in the college once a week, and classes for Bible studies are kept up from time to time. The present president of the association is Mr. W. P. Myers.

LOCATION AND SURROUNDINGS.

The village of Rio Grande is thirteen miles northwest of Gallipolis, and the same distance east of Oak Hill. It is six miles from Bidwell, on the C. H. V. & T. Railroad.

The fact that there are no saloons or other places of vicious resort at Rio Grande is a matter of great importance. Young men and women cannot safely be sent to places where these things exist. A few may be proof against temptation, but real safety is found where they do not exist. Rio Grande is free from many of the demoralizing influences found in all large cities and towns.

RHETORICAL EXERCISES.

Four rhetorical exercises are required of each student each term. The members of the school are divided into rhetorical classes under the charge of the teachers. Students entering school here for the first time are excused from the first rhetorical exercise, and especial assistance is given by the teachers to those who have had no previous instruction or experience in composition and speaking. The aim of this work is to train the students to speak with self-possession, grace, and energy, and to write correct and expressive English. Excellent opportunities for additional practice of this kind are afforded by the Shakespearian and Ciceronian Literary Societies. Students who do not wish to speak will be permitted to substitute written exercises.

PUBLIC RHETORICAL EXERCISES.

Public rhetorical exercises are held on Thursday evening of the ninth week of each term. These exercises are in great part declamations, but essays, orations, and discussions make part of the program at times. Those who take part are selected from the lower as well as from the more advanced classes and there are usually twelve participants in each exercise. The separate parts are short, and the aim is to train the speakers to deliver them with plainness and force. The passages to be spoken are selected with care on account of excellence in sentiment and beauty and force of language. These exercises have been of great interest and value, and are always largely attended. They have helped to develop the literary taste of both the students and the community.

REQUIRED READING.

For graduation from the preparatory department the reading of certain selected literary works is required. Much of this work is done in class under the guidance of a teacher, and an examination on each work is held. For the year 1905–06 the works read will be Shakespeare's "Macbeth," Scott's "Lay of the Last Minstrel," Gray's "Poems," Irving's "Tales of a Traveler," and Franklin's "Autobiography."

EXPENSES.

Tuition, Common English Studies, per term	$6 00
" Higher Studies, per term	7 00
Instrumental Music, per term of 20 lessons	8 00
Use of organ or piano for practice, two hours daily, per term . . .	3 00

All dues payable at least half a term in advance.

When students do not enter at the beginning of a term, tuition is not charged for the time that has been lost.

FREE TUITION UNDER THE "PATTERSON LAW."

Graduates from the common schools of Ohio under the "Patterson Law," who attend Rio Grande College one term within one year after their graduation, will be admitted free of charge for the term immediately following.

BOARDING.

Boarding and lodging with all things furnished to the student can be obtained at $2.50 per week or less, both in the College Boarding Hall and in private houses in or near the village. Where the student furnishes fuel, lights, bedding, and toilet articles, the price is reduced.

Opportunities for self-boarding may be obtained by corresponding in advance with the president.

READING-ROOM.

The most constantly needed of the works of reference that belong to the college library are kept in a reading-room to which the students have daily access. The reading-room is also well supplied with standard and local periodicals. The following standard periodicals have been received the present year: The American Monthly Review of Reviews, The Cosmopolitan, The Century Magazine, The Forum, Public Opinion, The Atlantic Monthly, McClure's Magazine, Frank Leslie's Magazine, The Youth's Companion, The Morning Star, The Journal and Messenger, The Advocate of Peace, The American Economist, The Union Signal, The Scientific American, The Double Cross, The Missionary Helper. In addition to these, about twenty local papers have been regularly placed in the reading-room.

THE CLARK PRIZE CONTEST.

At their annual meeting in June, 1898, the Board of Trustees, by unanimous vote, approved a plan submitted by Prof. C. O. Clark, of establishing a prize contest in thought, composition, and delivery of orations.

The plan is to raise a permanent fund of five hundred dollars by donations from persons bearing the name of Clark, and to use its interest from year to year in awarding prizes, consisting of books, for the best work, as above mentioned.

The plan provides that whenever one hundred dollars shall have been received by the treasurer of the college for this purpose, it shall be turned over to Messrs. Wood and Fulton, trustees of the endowment fund, or their successors, as a permanent fund for the purpose herein stated.

Already one hundred dollars has been secured and turned over to the trustees of the permanent fund, with twenty dollars in the hands of the treasurer towards the second hundred.

All donations to this fund may be sent to C. O. Clark, college treasurer, who will promptly acknowledge the same and make the proper record thereof.

The names, post-office addresses, and gifts of all donors will be carefully preserved in the archives of the college.

RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST.

There shall be one contest for first and second prize from junior and senior classes; one from the freshman and sophomore classes; and one including all other students.

If in any contest but two compete, but one first prize shall be given, the second going to the Library; and if at any time there be no competition, both prizes shall be given to the Library.

The number of words for juniors and seniors, freshmen and sophomores, must not be less than 1,000, or more than 2,000; and the number for all other students must not be less than 800, nor more than 1,500.

The orations from all contestants in the college department must be handed in to the president of the college, to be passed upon by the faculty in thought and comp sition, by the end of the second week of each fourth or last term of the college year, and all others by the end of the fourth week. They must all be handed in signed with a fictitious name.

No contestant shall be permitted to receive more than two hours' drill from any one of the teachers of the college.

The contest shall be held the week preceding commencement, the night to be designated by the faculty.

The presiding officer shall choose three persons to decide upon the merits of the delivery.

The faculty shall decide to whom the prizes shall be given, making the award upon the merits of the thought, composition, and delivery; and all prizes shall be awarded by the president of the college upon Commencement Day.

There was no competition for this prize in the spring of 1905.

WHAT THE COLLEGE CLAIMS.

In view of the thorough and practical instruction given in all departments; of the present facilities for illustrating by proper apparatus and material the studies that require such illustration; of the fact that substantial additions are made to library, apparatus, etc., every year; of the important fact that the students are brought into close personal relations with the teachers daily, and receive careful personal attention at each recitation; and lastly, in view of the positions which the graduates and advanced students have been able to secure and retain,—the trustees claim for Rio Grande College a standing among the educational institutions, and the claim is recognized wherever the college and its work are known.

In addition the trustees confidently assert that the advantages here offered are provided at as small expense to the students as by any other school of like grade in the country. There are very few institutions of equal rank where expenses are not much greater. Parents desiring to educate their children, and thoughtful young men and women desiring to educate themselves, are invited to consider these facts before deciding that it is impossible to secure a higher education. To all the people in southeastern Ohio and the adjacent parts of West Virginia and Kentucky, Rio Grande College affords the opportunity of a college education at a smaller cost than they can secure it elsewhere. Many have secured such an education here who could not have done so elsewhere. Students from a distance can attend here and save much more than the cost of travel. Those who are poor in this world's goods, are often rich in talent and character. To such persons Rio Grande College opens wide the door of opportunity.

HOW TO HELP RIO GRANDE COLLEGE.

Those who receive and read this catalogue are earnestly requested to consider the following suggestions as to ways in which they can help the college extend its noble influence in the world:—

1. By securing students. A word spoken in season may cause some young person to take a course that will increase his personal success and public usefulness beyond all computation. Do not speak that word only when the opportunity is thrust upon you, but seek the opportunity.

2. By sending to the college officers the names and addresses of persons to whom it would be profitable to send catalogue and circulars for the purpose of securing students, and of persons who would probably respond favorably to an invitation to contribute to its funds.

3. By contributing personally to the endowment fund. While this is a time in which large and almost startling gifts are being made to educational institutions, it is also a time in which some of the grandest agencies for good are being established by a multitude of smaller gifts. In the latter way it is entirely possible for the friends of Rio Grande College to make it rich and strong for the great and enduring usefulness for which it is destined. Let no friend therefore withhold his gift because it cannot be large. It is well to remember that if a large number of donors here concentrate their moderate donations this may hereafter attract some great and princely gift.

The trustees ardently hope that these considerations will have full weight with those who read this catalogue. They earnestly desire the widest and most liberal co-operation of all true friends of higher Christian education.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

This association was organized in 1892. The present officers are: C. E. Davis, Gallipolis, Ohio, president; Lida S. Lucas, Cheshire, Ohio, vice-president; Mollie Fulton, Rio Grande, Ohio, secretary; M. R. McDaniel, Sidney, Ohio, treasurer; Bessie Gibbons, Raccoon Island, Ohio, J. W. Jones, Ridgeland, Ohio, Carrie Davis, Rio Grande, Ohio, executive committee.

Following is given a list of graduates of the college. It is proposed to include a list of graduates in each annual catalogue hereafter, with the residence and occupation of each one at the time of the publication of the catalogue. Catalogues will be mailed to all, and it is desired that any correction or change in residence or occupation be promptly reported to the secretary of the college.

TEACHERS IN THE SUMMER TERM OF 1906

John D. Holcomb, M. S., Professor of Mathematics, Rio Grande College, Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry.

David Archie Ward, B. S., Professor of Physics and Chemistry, Rio Grande College, Latin, Pedagogy, History, and Civics.

Simeon Hutsinpiller Bing, Superintendent Porter-Bidwell Public Schools, Grammar, Literature, Physiology, and Geography.

Professor G. S. Bohanan, Rio Grande, Ohio, Organ and Piano.

Courses of Study

English and Normal Course

This course has been arranged for teachers in the public schools. Within the last few years there has been an increased number of students who have completed it. In accordance with instructions given by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, the course has been revised and enlarged. It offers an attractive and useful line of study to those who do not at present feel themselves ready to enter upon one of the longer courses.

The following studies are included in the English and Normal course:

Grammar, two terms, one in etymology, one in syntax.

Composition, one term.

Arithmetic, three terms.

Common-school Geography, one term.

Physical Geography, one term.

United States History and Civics, three terms.

Algebra, two terms.

Physiology, one term.

Book-keeping, one term.

Elementary Physics and Electricity, with laboratory practice, two terms.

Theory and practice of teaching, with White's Elements of Pedagogy as text-book, two terms.

History of education, one term.

History of English and American Literature, two terms.

For the two terms of Elementary Physics and Electricity, the study of Elementary Botany and Elementary Zoology, as taught in the preparatory department, may be substituted. The studies of the English and Normal Course which belong to the preparatory courses as laid down in this catalogue, are to be studied during the terms there mentioned, with the exception of the commonschool branches of study. In these studies, classes are organized each term according to the needs of the students.

In addition to the studies above named, the reading of a select number of English and American Classics will be required. These are the same as required in the preparatory course, and for the year 1906-07 will be as follows:

1. Shakespeare's Macbeth. ,
2. Scott's Lady of the Lake.
3. Milton's Minor Poems, including Comus, Lycidas, L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, and Sonnets.
4. Washington's Farewell Address and Webster's First Bunker Hill Oration.
5. George Eliot's Silas Marner.

All of the above can be obtained in editions especially prepared for the use of students. The price of Lady of the Lake and Silas Marner is 35 cents each; of the other three, 25 cents each.

In reading the above works, there are certain definite ends that the student should attain. He should acquire a clear knowledge of the subject-matter of each composition. This knowledge will be tested by recitations, by the writing of short compositions on subjects drawn from the reading and assigned by a teacher, and by a final examination. The student should also acquire a knowledge of the main facts in the life of each author.

It is hoped that this English and Normal course of study will be carefully examined by many public school teachers and that many will enter upon it and complete it. It will be observed that to take all of the studies in class at Rio Grande College will require less than two years. Many students entering upon this course are already proficient in part of these studies. The college will conduct examinations upon such studies and if the examinations are successfully passed, the student will not be required to take those studies in classes. Grades secured at examination for certificates to teach will not be accepted.

It is easily within the power of any teacher in the ungraded rural schools to complete this course. There are many advantages in doing so. Among these advantages the following may be named:

1. Study pursued with a definite end in view is always more systematic and energetic and secures more rapid advancement.
2. A good degree of genuine culture and practical preparation for teaching will thus be secured.

3. School officers will be favorably impressed by the fact that teachers applying to them for employment, have done definite and well arranged work in preparing for teaching.

4. The teacher himself, as a result of the successful accomplishment of a prescribed task, is more likely to have high ideals and to strive for decided success in his work.

5. The successful completion of this course often leads to more extended study. The bearing of this fact upon one's usefulness and success in his life-work, is very great.

English and Normal Diploma

Those who satisfactorily complete the English and Normal Course, receive diplomas indicating the completion of the course and literary fitness for teaching.

Scientific Preparatory Course

Fourth Term.—Latin, Vergil, second book of Aeneid; Physics—Carhart and Chute; Solid Geometry—Phillips and Fisher.

Remarks on the Scientific Preparatory Course.

In accordance with instructions given by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, and in order to keep the work of Rio Grand College in all its departments in line with recent advancement in educational work, this course has been revised and lengthened. It now contains three years' work. It is so arranged as to assign three full studies to each term. But in the future, as in the past, students who desire to take four studies and who are found able to do the work satisfactorily, will be permitted to do so. In this way the time required to complete the work may be and often is shortened.

The changes that have been made are as follows:

Latin.—The study of Latin will begin in the Spring Term and the course will contain three terms more of Latin than it did formerly.

Mathematics.—One term in Mathematics has been added and the course now contains both Plane and Solid Geometry.

History.—The work in United States History has been divided into two terms' work. It has long been found difficult to accomplish the work as heretofore arranged. General History has been added and a full year's work will be required. Myers's General History has been revised and brought down to the Treaty of Portsmouth and the election of the Russian Parliament, and will be the text-book used.

Literature.—Two terms of study of English and American Literature will be required, with the Shaw-Backus Hand book as the text-book. A list of classics similar to those selected for years past, will be assigned for study and examination. This list is fully described in the paragraph setting forth the requirements in the English and Normal course. More extended and critical work in Literature will be provided for the collegiate course.

Science.—The work in Elementary Zoology has been extended so as to occupy an entire term, and a term's work in Elementary Botany has been added.

As now arranged, the Scientific Preparatory Course contains thirty-six terms' work, distributed as follows among the general branches of study:

English Language and Literature	5
Mathematics	9
Natural Science	6
History and Civics	7
Latin	9

Nature and Value of This Course

Altho the primary purpose of the preparatory course is to lead to the collegiate course, yet it is complete in itself. It is made up of carefully selected and naturally arranged studies. The college advises young persons who do not design to complete a collegiate course or who do not feel able to do so, to follow the preparatory course as laid down in this catalogue. A more thorough and practical training will thus be secured, than by taking an equal number of studies selected by the student. The preparatory course thoroughly studied and well mastered is worth far more to the student than a larger number of branches hastily and superficially studied. Besides, the student often enlarges his plan as he advances. When this is the case, he can at once follow his enlarged plan without delay or inconvenience.

The Classical Preparatory Course and the two Collegiate courses are printed in this catalogue in substantially the form that has been followed in the past. For the year 1906-1907 the former schedules will be followed in these departments.

The Junior Scientific Preparatory class organized during the year 1905-06 will go through the work of the year 1906-07 according to the former schedule.

New classes in the Scientific Preparatory Course and in the English and Normal Course, organized at any time during the year 1906-07, will follow the requirements of those two courses as they have been revised and are printed in this catalogue.

Classical Preparatory Course

FIRST YEAR.

Same as first year of the Scientific Preparatory Course.

Course in Instrumental Music

PIANO.

In accordance with instructions from the Board of Trustees, the following course in music has been prepared. On the satisfactory completion of the course a suitable diploma will be given. Those who complete any part of the course will receive on request a written statement of the work done. It is hoped that by means of this course of study a larger number of music students will reduce their work to system.

No especial time is set for the completion of the different grades. The time required will depend upon the ability and faithfulness of the student. The student beginning with the rudiments and making ordinary progress can complete the course in four years, taking two lessons a week.

English Studies Connected With Music Course

Many students in Music desire a good general education in addition to their musical education. For such students Rio Grande College makes provision. A selected list of English studies are connected with the studies of the Music course. Music students who desire to take these studies in the regular classes of the other departments, can do so. If all the English studies assigned are completed in connection with the completion of the Music course, a parchment diploma bearing the degree of Bachelor of Music will be given. The graduation fee in such case will be five dollars.

The studies selected for this course are as follows:

English Grammar, two terms.

Composition and Rhetoric, one term.

English and American Literature, two terms.

The English and American Classics selected for the Preparatory and the English and Normal Courses.

United States History and Civics, three terms.

General History, four terms.

Courses in Instrumental Music

PREPARATORY COURSE.

Köhler's Piano Method, Op. 300.

Eccarius—Sieber, master system of training the hand.

Duvernoy—Op. 176, Studies for Beginners.

Eilenberg—Op. 249.

This course is intended to occupy the student about one year and a half.

Four Years' Course

FRESHMAN YEAR.

Schmitt-Klauser—Exercises.
Heller—Etudes, Op. 47.
Clementi—Sonatas, Op. 36, 37 and 38.
Schumann—Album, Op. 68.

Czerny—Studies, Op. 365.
Henselt—Studies and pieces.
One concerto.
History of Music.
Concert pieces selected and memorized throughout the course.

Rio Grande College

Historical Sketch

This school owes its existence to the Christian benevolence of Deacon Nehemiah Atwood and his wife, Permelia Atwood. Mr. and Mrs. Atwood were married in 1819, and spent all of their subsequent lives in Raccoon township, Gallia county, Ohio, where they accumulated an estate of over one hundred thousand dollars. About the year 1850, Rev. Ira Z. Haning, a student of the Ohio University at Athens, Ohio, and a minister in the Freewill Baptist denomination, was preaching in Huntington and Raccoon townships, where he was instrumental in bringing about a religious reformation whose good results have ever been apparent. Under his ministry Mr. and Mrs. Atwood were converted and joined the Freewill Baptist church.

The following record is taken from their family Bible, now in the library of Rio Grande College:

"Nehemiah Atwood and Permelia, his wife, were baptized, through the mercy of God, by Bro. Ira Z. Haning, Freewill Baptist, 26th January, 1851."

From that time until their death they were active in Christian work and liberal in the support of the church and its benevolent enterprises.

Gradually the purpose of giving their entire estate to found and endow an institution for higher Christian education in the place where their lives had been spent and their estate accumulated was developed and matured. In the growth of their sentiments and plans Mr. Haning was their valued adviser.

When Mr. Atwood died, in December, 1869, these plans had been fully formed, but no steps taken to carry them out. His widow at once began to move in this direction. A campus of ten acres was laid out upon one of their farms. Around this campus the village of Rio Grande has grown up. The main college building was erected in the Summer of 1875 and the boarding hall in 1876. The college began the work of instruction September 13, 1876.

The Educational Policy of the College

Rio Grande College endeavors to occupy the proper place in that great system of American education which is now clearly defined in its outline. This position is intermediate. Below the college are the common schools, the high schools, and the preparatory schools. It would be well if all appropriate work of these lower schools could be done in them. But, as it is not, most colleges have, of necessity, a preparatory department. While there are disadvantages in this, still the unity in intellectual work which is secured by having the collegiate work done by the same teachers that have conducted the preparatory work, is a compensating advantage.

In the collegiate course the aim has been well expressed by a leading American college president, as follows:

"To produce scholars whose knowledge of ancient and modern languages and literatures, higher mathematics, experimental science, political and economic history, psychology, ethics, and sociology enables them to grasp the principles of law or medicine or politics or theology; to guide social progress and form public opinion; to enjoy the companionship of wise and good men of all lands and ages; and to appreciate the results in some department of scientific or historical research."

Above the college is the university, whose work it is to train and develop those select scholars who are not simply to appropriate the things already known, but to advance the knowledge of truth in some chosen field of study.

In taking and holding this high but intermediate position, Rio Grande College aims to do its appropriate work for its students. Its success in this is demonstrated by the practical ability shown by its graduates in various forms of work, and by the excellent work done by those graduates who have taken university and professional studies.

The Religious Policy of the College

The trustees and teachers consider true religion to be the foundation of the most valuable intellectual attainments, and use all the means in their power to promote sound Christian principles among the students. In the words of the articles of association, the college was founded "to promote Christian education." A system of education that develops only the intellect and appeals only to worldly motives is partial and incomplete. Those who are thus educated cannot have the highest form of personal worth or perform the best work for their fellow-men.

The work of inculcating religious principles and forming Christian character is pursued in no narrow and illiberal way.

Denominational Character and Religious Work

The preamble to the constitution of the college says that the purpose of its trustees will be to give, under Christian influence, a scientific, literary, and classical education. An article in the constitution requires two-thirds of the members of the board of trustees to be members of the Freewill Baptist church. From the beginning it has been the ruling idea in the work of the college that personal loyalty to Christ is the only true foundation of sound intellectual acquirements, and the only preparation for the right use of such acquirements in our divinely appointed work in life. While there has been no regular system of theological instruction, yet at different times instruction of this kind has been given such as the circumstances called for and made possible. Over thirty men who have entered the Christian ministry, over half of them in the Freewill Baptist church, have received all or an important part of their training here.

In the light of the facts above enumerated in regard to the denominational and religious character of the college, the duty of the churches to patronize it and help increase its usefulness is apparent. This duty belongs in an especial degree to ministers. One of the most important duties of the Christian pastor is to guide the minds of the young members of his charge toward the most thorough and generous preparation for their life-work.

Free Tuition For Ministerial Students

As a contribution to an enlightened and progressive Christianity, the trustees of the college give free tuition to properly accredited candidates for the Christian ministry without regard to their denominational connection. In doing this they feel that they make a legitimate claim to the support of Christian ministers and Christian people. They ask such persons to note this fact, and call the attention of young men contemplating the ministry to this provision. This course admits only to the regular academic work of the college, not to special theological studies or to instruction in music.

The College Library

The college library now contains 3,500 volumes. It has numerous works on history and science and is well supplied with the best reference works. Among these are the Standard Dictionary, two volumes; the Century Dictionary, Cyclopedia, and Atlas, ten volumes; Johnson's Cyclopedia, eight volumes; Encyclopedia Britannica, twenty-six volumes; Who's Who in America; Lippincott's Pronouncing Gazetteer of the World.

Geological Cabinet

The geological cabinet is the most complete and valuable single collection in the college. The specimens are mounted, classified, labeled, and protected from dust. They illustrate almost every formation described in the standard text-books on geology. Valuable additions are made every year; among the more recent is a box of beautiful crystals to be used with the microscope. Iron ore, coal, and various clays are mined within a few miles of the college. In teaching this subject, constant and thorough use is made of the cabinet.

Zoological Cabinet

This cabinet is small but helpful. It contains some salt-water animals, shells, birds, and nests, some of the smaller vertebrates in alcohol, etc. In the insect world, the specimens are largely obtained fresh for each class. Students provide themselves with a single microscope, while compound microscopes and field-glasses are furnished by the school. This study has been required in the Junior Preparatory course since 1895, and the pupils of this class are frequently taken to the woods, fields, or streams to study birds and their ways, to gather specimens of insects, to learn the food and habits of their larvae, etc. Several fine specimens of marine animals have been donated within the past year.

Illustrative Apparatus For Teaching Physics and Electricity

The following new material has been added to this department: a Ritchie lever air pump, pole changer, Wheatstone slide wire bridge, electro magnet, magneto bell ringer, transmitter, receiver, tangent galvanometer, Trowbridge galvanometer with accessories; extra coils, mirror needle, damping well, glass window; rotating magnet, storage battery, bichromate battery of four cells, dry battery; zinc, copper, and lead electrodes; five pounds of mercury, and copper wire of every size.

The college now has for this work, in addition to the above, an Edison lamp, telegraph instrument, telephone instrument, induction coils, electric motor, rheostat, dynamo, seven-in-one vacuum tube, force pump, balances, air-pressure tube; and Leclanche, Bunsen, gravity, Daniel batteries.

The subject of electricity is now taught as a separate and distinct branch of study in the Senior year of the Scientific Course. The work covers one term. The text-book adopted is "Jackson's Electricity and Magnetism." The method adopted for class-room work divides the time equally between the subject-matter of the text-book and practical laboratory work.

Surveying Instruments

For the practical teachings of civil engineering the college possesses a first-class surveying instrument, with leveling rods, chains, and draughting instruments. That very thorough work is done in this study is shown by the fact that the engineering of the turnpikes which have been built in Gallia and Jackson counties has been done almost wholly by students of this school. The aim of this department is to combine the practical with the theoretical. Much time is spent in the field in running lines, locating corners, and laying out roads and ditches for tile draining.

Degrees and Diplomas

Those who complete the Classical Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts; those who complete the Scientific Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Science. Graduates of not less than three years' standing who have maintained professional, literary, or scientific work and study, upon application receive respectively the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science. Those graduates who have received these advanced degrees are indicated in the list of graduates given elsewhere. A graduation fee of five dollars is charged for each of the above degrees. A graduation fee of two dollars is charged to those who complete the English and Normal Course, and three dollars to those who complete the Music course. Diplomas are given in all the above cases.

Piano

In the department of Instrumental Music pupils of all grades are received. Special attention and care are given to beginners and those who come to us with little or no knowledge of the rudiments and foundation of musical structure.

Harmony and history of music are taught free of any expense to the pupil except for books.

We do not claim to make musicians in the fullest meaning of the word, for they are born, not made; but we do claim to develop the artistic in every pupil, and any one satisfactorily completing the course may in one year's time graduate from the New England Conservatory of Music.

A good foundation being necessary for a musical education, special care is taken to develop the technic of the student.

The training of the memory is of great importance, and all the work performed in public is required to be thoroughly memorized, as well as all technical work.

No student will be advanced from one year to another without first showing by his ability and willingness to work that he is entitled to the advancement. It may be seen by this that a student may not be advanced from a junior to senior until he has been a junior from four to six or even eight terms.

Upon Graduation the pupil will be required to perform a concerto, which will be selected by the teacher of music.

Public recitals are given to enable the pupils to appear at ease when playing in public.

In both the vocal and instrumental departments the system of private lessons is used.

While many come to study music only, they often find it profitable to take one or more studies in college. The music pupils are under college discipline, and enjoy the college reading-room, library, and other privileges.

The rental for piano or organ is so small ($1.50 per term for each hour) that it enables the student to practice as many hours a day as health will permit, without incurring great expense. Cost of tuition is given under the general heading, Expenses. The expense of books and sheet music is in all cases borne by the student and is made as small as possible.

Voice

A modern course in voice culture is carried out, based upon the Italian method. Each student receives from thirty to forty-five minutes in instruction and the voice is strengthened and developed in a natural way. Chorus singing is an important part of our work.

Organ

Students who wish may take their lessons upon the organ, and a course of organ music is used in such cases.

Musical Instruments

The college owns three good upright pianos, one grand piano, and one Chicago cottage organ.

Literary Societies

There are two literary societies, the Shakespearian and the Ciceronian. They hold weekly sessions on Monday evening. They are rich sources of profit to the students.

College Y. M. C. A.

Since its organization in 1882 the college Y. M. C. A. has been an important auxiliary to the work of the college. Under its auspices a prayer meeting is held in the college once a week, and classes for Bible studies are kept up from time to time.

Location and Surroundings

The village of Rio Grande is thirteen miles northwest of Gallipolis, and the same distance east of Oak Hill. It is six miles from Bidwell, on the C. H. V. & T. Railroad.

The fact that there are no saloons or other places of vicious resort at Rio Grande is a matter of great importance. Young men and women cannot safely be sent to places where these things exist. A few may be proof against temptation, but real safety is found where they do not exist. Rio Grande is free from many of the demoralizing influences found in all large cities and towns.

Rhetorical Exercises

Four rhetorical exercises are required of each student each term. The members of the school are divided into rhetorical classes under the charge of the teachers. Especial assistance is given by the teachers to those who have had no previous instruction or experience in composition and speaking. The aim of this work is to train the students to speak with self-possession, grace, and energy, and to write correct and expressive English. Excellent opportunities for additional practice of this kind are afforded by the Shakespearian and Ciceronian Literary Societies. Students who do not wish to speak will be permitted to substitute written exercises.

Public Rhetorical Exercises

Public rhetorical exercises are held on Thursday evening of the ninth week of each term. These exercises are in great part declamations, but essays, orations, and discussions make part of the program at times. Those who take part are selected from the lower as well as from the more advanced classes and there are usually twelve participants in each exercise. The separate parts are short, and the aim is to train the speakers to deliver them with plainness and force. The passages to be spoken are selected with care on account of excellence in sentiment and beauty and force of language. These exercises have been of great interest and value, and are always largely attended. They have helped to develop the literary taste of both the students and the community.

Expenses

Tuition, Common English Studies, per term	$6 00
Tuition, Higher Studies, per term	7 00
Instrumental Music, per term of 20 lessons	8 00
Use of organ or piano for practice, two hours daily, per term	3 00

All dues payable at least half a term in advance.

When students do not enter at the beginning of a term, tuition is not charged for the time that has been lost.

Free Tuition Under The "Patterson Law"

Graduates from the common schools of Ohio, under the "Patterson Law," who attend Rio Grande College one term within one year after their graduation, will be admitted free of charge for the term immediately following.

Boarding

Boarding and lodging with all things furnished to the student can be obtained at $2.50 per week or less, both in the College Boarding Hall and in private houses in or near the village. Where the student furnishes fuel, lights, bedding, and toilet articles, the price is reduced.

Opportunities for self-boarding may be obtained by corresponding in advance with the president.

Reading Room

The most constantly needed of the works of reference that belong to the college library are kept in a reading-room to which the students have daily access. The reading-room is also well supplied with standard and local periodicals. The folowing standard periodicals have been received the present year: The American Monthly Review of Reviews, The Century Magazine, The Forum, The Atlantic Monthly, McClure's Magazine, Frank Leslie's Magazine, The Youth's Companion, The Morning Star, The Journal and Messenger, The Advocate of Peace, The American Economist, The Scientific American, The Double Cross, The Missionary Helper. In addition to these many local papers have been regularly placed in the reading-room.

The Clark Prize Contest

At their annual meeting in June, 1898, the Board of Trustees, by unanimous vote, approved a plan submitted by Prof. C. O. Clark, of establishing a prize contest in thought, composition, and delivery of orations.

The plan is to raise a permanent fund of five hundred dollars by donations from persons bearing the name of Clark, and to use its interest from year to year in awarding prizes, consisting of books, for the best work, as above mentioned.

The plan provides that whenever one hundred dollars shall have been received by the treasurer of the college for this purpose, it shall be turned over to Messrs. Wood and Fulton, trustees of the endowment fund, or their successors, as a permanent fund for the purpose herein stated.

Already one hundred dollars has been secured and turned over to the trustees of the permanent fund, with twenty dollars in the hands of the treasurer towards the second hundred.

All donations to this fund may be sent to C. O. Clark, college treasurer, who will promptly acknowledge the same and make the proper record thereof.

The names, post-office address, and gifts of all donors will be carefully preserved in the archives of the college.

Rules Governing The Contest

There shall be one contest for first and second prize from junior and senior classes; one from the freshman and sophomore classes; and one including all other students.

If in any contest but two compete, but one first prize shall be given, the second going to the library; and if at any time there be no competition, both prizes shall be given to the library.

The number of words for juniors and seniors, freshmen and sophomores, must not be less than 1,000, or more than 2,000; and the number for all other students must not be less than 800 or more than 1,500.

The orations from all contestants in the college department must be handed in to the president of the college, to be passed upon by the faculty in thought and composition, by the end of the second week of each fourth or last term of the college year, and all others by the end of the fourth week. They must all be handed in signed with a fictitious name.

No contestant shall be permitted to receive more than two hours' drill from any one of the teachers of the college.

The contest shall be held the week preceding commencement, the night to be designated by the faculty.

The presiding officer shall choose three persons to decide upon the merits of the delivery.

The faculty shall decide to whom the prizes shall be given, making the award upon the merits of the thought, composition, and delivery; and all prizes shall be awarded by the president of the college upon Commencement Day.

There was no competition for this prize in the spring of 1906.

What The College Claims

In view of the thorough and practical instruction given in all departments; of the present facilities for illustrating by proper apparatus and material the studies that require such illustration; of the fact that substantial additions are made to library, apparatus, etc., every year; of the important fact that the students are brought into close personal relations with the teachers daily, and receive careful personal attention at each recitation; and lastly, in view of the positions which the graduates and advanced students have been able to secure and retain,—the trustees claim for Rio Grande College a standing among the educational institutions, and the claim is recognized wherever the college and its work are known.

In addition the trustees confidently assert that the advantages here offered are provided at as small expense to the students as by any other school of like grade in the country. There are very few institutions of equal rank where expenses are not much greater. Parents desiring to educate their children, and thoughtful young men and women desiring to educate themselves, are invited to consider these facts before deciding that it is impossible to secure a higher education. To all the people in southeastern Ohio and the adjacent parts of West Virginia and Kentucky, Rio Grande College affords the opportunity of a college education at a smaller cost than they can secure it elsewhere. Many have secured such an education here who could not have done so elsewhere. Students from a distance can attend here and save much more than the cost of travel. Those who are poor in this world's goods, are often rich in talent and character. To such persons Rio Grande College opens wide the door of opportunity.

How to Help Rio Grande College

Those who receive and read this catalogue are earnestly requested to consider the following suggestions as to ways in which they can help the college extend its noble influence in the world:—

1. By securing students. A word spoken in season may cause some young person to take a course that will increase his personal success and public usefulness beyond all computation. Do not speak that word only when the opportunity is thrust upon you, but seek the opportunity.

2. By sending to the college officers the names and addresses of persons to whom it would be profitable to send catalogue and circulars for the purpose of securing students, and of persons who would probably respond favorable to an invitation to contribute to its funds.

3. By contributing personally to the endowment fund. While this is a time in which large and almost startling gifts are being made to educational institutions, it is also a time in which some of the grandest agencies for good are being established by a multitude of smaller gifts. In the latter way it is entirely possible for the friends of Rio Grande College to make it rich and strong for the great and enduring usefulness for which it is destined. Let no friend, therefore, withhold his gift because it cannot be large. It is well to remember that if a large number of donors here concentrate their moderate donations, this may hereafter attract some great and princely gift.

The trustees ardently hope that these considerations will have full weight with those who read this catalogue. They earnestly desire the widest and most liberal co-operation of all true friends of higher Christian education.

Alumni Association

This association was organized in 1892. The present officers are: C. E. Davis, Gallipolis, Ohio, president; Lida S. Lucas, Cheshire, Ohio, vice-president; Mollie Fulton, Rio Grande, Ohio, secretary; M. R. McDaniel, Rushville, Ind., treasurer; Bessie Gibbons, Raccoon Island, Ohio, J. W. Jones, Gallipolis, Ohio, Carrie Davis, Rio Grande, Ohio, executive committee.

Following is given a list of graduates of the college. It is proposed to include a list of graduates in each annual catalogue hereafter, with the residence and occupation of each one at the time of the publication of the catalogue. Catalogues will be mailed to all, and it is desired that any correction or change in residence or occupation be promptly reported to the secretary of the college.

Endowment

The present endowment fund is $76,000. It is derived from the estate of Mrs. Permelia Atwood and draws six per cent interest. The college is now engaged in the work of raising an additional sum of $75,000. Mr. Andrew Carnegie has promised to give $25,000 of this amount when the college has secured $50,000 in cash or realizable securities. The Board of Trustees at the annual meeting on June 13, 1906, instructed President Davis to work for the securing of this sum and made provision for his traveling expenses while thus engaged. During the coming college year systematic labor toward this end will be carried on. It can easily be seen how greatly this increase of resources would strengthen the school in every department. The co-operation of all friends of Rio Grande College is earnestly solicited in this work.

Courses of Study

English and Normal Course

This course has been arranged for teachers in the public schools. Within the last few years there has been an increased number of students who have completed it. In accordance with instructions given by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, the course has been revised and enlarged. It offers an attractive and useful line of study to those who do not at present feel themselves ready to enter upon one of the longer courses.

The following studies are included in the English and Normal course:

Grammar, two terms, one in etymology, one in syntax.

Composition, one term.

Arithmetic, three terms.

Common-school Geography, one term.

Physical Geography, one term.

United States History and Civics, three terms.

Algebra, two terms.

Physiology, one term.

Bookkeeping, one term.

Elementary Physics and Electricity, with laboratory practice, two terms.

Theory and Practice of Teaching, with White's Elements of Pedagogy as text-book, two terms.

History of Education, one term.

History of English and American Literature, two terms.

For the two terms of Elementary Physics and Electricity, the study of Elementary Botany and Elementary Zoology, as taught in the Preparatory Department, may be substituted. The studies of the English and Normal Course which belong to the Preparatory Courses as laid down in this catalog, are to be studied during the terms there mentioned, with the exception of the common-school branches of study. In these studies, classes are organized each term according to the needs of the students.

In addition to the studies above named, the reading of a select number of English and American Classics will be required. These are the same as required in the preparatory course, and for the year 1907-'08 will be as follows:

1. Shakespeare's Macbeth.
2. Scott's Lady of the Lake.
3. Milton's Minor Poems, including Comus, Lycidas, L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, and Sonnets.
4. Washington's Farewell Address and Webster's First Bunker Hill Oration.
5. George Eliot's Silas Marner.

In reading the above works, there are certain definite ends that the student should attain. He should acquire a clear knowledge of the subject-matter of each composition. This knowledge will be tested by recitations, by the writing of short compositions on subjects drawn from the reading and assigned by a teacher, and by a final examination. The student should also acquire a knowledge of the main facts in the life of each author.

It is hoped that this English and Normal course of study will be carefully examined by many public school teachers and that many will enter upon it and complete it. It will be observed that to take all of the studies in class at Rio Grande College will require less than two years. Many students entering upon this course are already proficient in part of these studies. The college will conduct examinations upon such studies and if the examinations are successfully passed, the student will not be required to take those studies in classes. Grades secured at examination for certificates to teach will not be accepted.

It is easily within the power of any teacher in the ungraded rural schools to complete this course. There are many advantages in doing so. Among these advantages the following may be named:

1. Study pursued with a definite end in view is always more systematic and energetic and secures more rapid advancement.
2. A good degree of genuine culture and practical preparation for teaching will thus be secured.
3. School officers will be favorably impressed by the fact that teachers applying to them for employment, have done definite and well arranged work in preparing for teaching.
4. The teacher himself, as a result of the successful accomplishment of a prescribed task, is more likely to have high ideals and to strive for decided success in his work.

5. The successful completion of this course often leads to more extended study. The bearing of this fact upon one's usefulness and success in his life-work, is very great.

English and Normal Diploma

Those who satisfactorily complete the English and Normal Course, receive diplomas indicating the completion of the course and literary fitness for teaching.

Scientific Preparatory Course

FIRST YEAR.

First Term.—Grammar, Etymology—Harvey; Higher Arithmetic, B—Ray; United States History, first half of Barnes's History.

Second Term.—Grammar, Syntax—Harvey; Higher Arithmetic, A—Ray; United States History, second half of Barnes's History.

Third Term.—Composition and Rhetoric; Book-keeping—Bryant and Stratton; Civics—McCleary.

Fourth Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to Lesson 23; Elementary Zoology; Physiology and Hygiene—Overton.

SECOND YEAR.

First Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to Lesson 43; General History—Myers, to Chapter 21; Elementary Botany.

Second Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to Lesson 62; General History—Myers, to Chapter 37; Elementary Algebra to Equations containing more than one unknown quantity—Ray.

Third Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to Lesson 83; General History—Myers, to Chapter 56; Elementary Algebra to end of book—Ray.

Fourth Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to end of book; General History—Myers, to end of book; Physical Geography—Tarr.

THIRD YEAR.

First Term.—Latin—Cicero, first and second orations against Catiline; Higher Algebra—Ray; Literature, first half of Shaw-Backus Hand-Book.

Second Term.—Latin, Cicero, two orations selected; Higher Algebra—Ray; Literature, second half of Shaw-Backus Hand-Book.

Third Term.—Latin, Vergil, first book of Aeneid; Physics—Carhart and Chute; Plane Geometry—Phillips and Fisher.

Fourth Term.—Latin, Vergil, second book of Aeneid; Physics—Carhart and Chute; Solid Geometry—Phillips and Fisher.

Remarks on the Scientific Preparatory Course.

In accordance with instructions given by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, and in order to keep the work of Rio Grande College in all its departments in line with recent advancement in educational work, this course has been revised and lengthened. It now contains three years' work. It is so arranged as to assign three full studies to each term. But in the future, as in the past, students who desire to take four studies and who are found able to do the work satisfactorily, will be permitted to do so. In this way the time required to complete the work may be and often is shortened.

The changes that have been made are as follows:

Latin.—The study of Latin will begin in the Spring Term and the course will contain three terms more of Latin than it did formerly.

Mathematics.—One term in Mathematics has been added and the course now contains both Plane and Solid Geometry.

History.—The work in United States History has been divided into two terms' work. It has long been found difficult to accomplish the work as heretofore arranged. General History has been added and a full year's work will be required. Myers's General History has been revised and brought down to the Treaty of Portsmouth and the election of the Russian Parliament, and will be the text-book used.

Literature.—Two terms of study of English and American Literature will be required, with the Shaw-Backus Hand-book as the text-book. A list of classics similar to those selected for years past, will be assigned for study and examination. This list is fully described in the paragraph setting forth the requirements in the English and Normal course. More extended and critical work in Literature will be provided for the collegiate course.

Science.—The work in Elementary Zoology has been extended so as to occupy an entire term, and a term's work in Elementary Botany has been added.

As now arranged, the Scientific Preparatory Course contains thirty-six terms' work, distributed as follows among the general branches of study:

English Language and Literature	5
Mathematics	9
Natural Science	6
History and Civics	7
Latin	9

Nature and Value of this Course

Altho the primary purpose of the Preparatory Course is to lead to the Collegiate Course, yet it is complete in itself. It is made up of carefully selected and naturally arranged studies. The college advises young persons who do not design to complete a collegiate course or who do not feel able to do so, to follow the preparatory course as laid down in this catalog. A more thoro and practical training will thus be secured, than by taking an equal number of studies selected by the student. The preparatory course thoroly studied and well mastered is worth far more to the student than a larger number of branches hastily and superficially studied. Besides, the student often enlarges his plan as he advances. When this is the case, he can at once follow his enlarged plan without delay or inconvenience.

Classical Preparatory Course

FIRST YEAR.

Same as first year of the Scientific Preparatory Course.

SECOND YEAR.

First Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to Lesson 43; Greek Lessons—Gleason and Atherton; Physical Geography—Tarr.

Second Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to Lesson 62; Greek Lessons, continued; Elementary Algebra to equations containing more than one unknown quantity—Ray.

Third Term.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to Lesson 83; Xenophon's Anabasis—Kelsey; Elementary Algebra to end of book.

FOURTH TERM.—Latin—Coy's Latin Lessons to end of book; Xenophon's Anabasis, continued; Elementary Zoology.

THIRD YEAR.

FIRST TERM.—Latin, Cicero, two orations against Catiline; Xenophon's Anabasis, continued; Higher Algebra—Ray.

SECOND TERM.—Latin, Cicero, two orations, selected; Xenophon's Anabasis, continued; Higher Algebra—Ray.

THIRD TERM.—Vergil, Aeneid, Book I; Homer's Iliad; Plane Geometry—Phillips and Fisher.

FOURTH TERM.—Vergil, Aeneid, Book II; Homer's Iliad, continued; Solid Geometry—Phillips and Fisher.

Collegiate Courses—Scientific

THIRD TERM.—Moral Philosophy—McKenzie; Philology—Whitney; Electricty.

FOURTH TERM.—International Law—Woolsey; Political Economy—Andrews; Logic—Poland.

REMARKS ON THE SCIENTIFIC COLLEGIATE COURSE.

The first class in the Preparatory Department to complete the course as enlarged in 1906, will complete it in June, 1908. All students who have completed the Preparatory Course in 1907 and previous years, will follow the Scientific Collegiate Course as it is still laid down in this catalog. But in 1908 this course will be so revised as to bring it into harmony with the new preparatory requirements, and this revised Collegiate course will be published in the catalog printed in 1908.

Classical

FRESHMAN YEAR.

FIRST TERM.—Vergil's Aeneid—Chase and Stuart; Homer's Odyssey—Boise and Freeman; Geometry— Phillips and Fisher.

SECOND TERM.—Livy—Chase and Stuart; Extracts from Demosthenes and Plato—Boise and Freeman; Higher Algebra completed—Ray.

THIRD TERM.—Livy continued; Thucydides—Boise and Freeman; Trigonometry—Schuyler.

FOURTH TERM.—Horace—Chase and Stuart; Greek—New Testament; Surveying—Schuyler.

SOPHOMORE YEAR.

FIRST TERM.—Cicero's De Senectute—Chase and Stuart; Herodotus or French; Analytical Geometry.

SECOND TERM.—Cicero's De Amicitia; Xenophon's Memorabilia or French; Drawing.

THIRD TERM.—Tacitus, Germania, or French; Physiology—Huxley and Youman's; Mechanics.

FOURTH TERM.—Tacitus, Agricola, or French; Botany—Gray; Physics.

Course in Instrumental Music

PIANO.

In acordance with instructions from the Board of Trustees, the following course in music has been prepared. On the satisfactory completion of the course a suitable diploma will be given. Those who complete any part of the course will receive on request a written statement of the work done. It is hoped that by means of this course of study a larger number of music students will reduce their work to system.

No especial time is set for the completion of the different grades. The time required will depend upon the ability and faithfulness of the student. The student beginning with the rudiments and making ordinary progress can complete the course in four years, taking two lessons a week.

English Studies Connected With Music Course

DEGREE IN MUSIC AND DIPLOMA.

Many students in Music desire a good general education in addition to their musical education. For such students Rio Grande College makes provision. A selected list of English studies are connected with the studies of the Music course. Music students who desire to take these studies in the regular classes of the other departments, can do so. If all the English studies assigned are completed in connection with the completion of the Music course, a parchment diploma bearing the degree of Bachelor of Music will be given. The graduation fee in such case will be five dollars.

The studies selected for this course are as follows:

English Grammar, two terms.

Composition and Rhetoric, one term.

English and American Literature, two terms.

The English and American Classics selected for the Preparatory and the English and Normal Courses.

United States History and Civics, three terms.

General History, four terms.

Courses in Instrumental Music

PREPARATORY COURSE.

Köhler's Piano Method, Op. 300.

Eccarius—Sieber, master system of training the hand.

Duvernoy—Op. 176, Studies for Beginners.

Eilenberg—Op. 249.

This course is intended to occupy the student about one year and a half.

Four Years' Course

FRESHMAN YEAR.

Schmitt-Klauser—Exercises.
Heller—Etudes, Op. 47.
Clementi—Sonatas, Op. 36, 37 and 38.
Schumann—Album, Op. 68.
Löw—Teacher and Pupil.
Theory.
Memorizing begun and continued throughout the course.
Ensemble playing.
Album of popular piano pieces.

SOPHOMORE YEAR.

Bach—Short Preludes and Fugues.
Mozart—Eight sonatas, selected.
Heller—Etudes, Op. 45 and 16.
Czerny—Etudes, Op. 299.
Tausig—Daily studies.
Emery—Harmony.
Kölling—Teacher and Pupil, Op. 363.
Schubert—Marches for four hands.

JUNION YEAR.

Cramer—Etudes, selected.
Bach—Inventions, complete.
Mendelssohn—Songs Without Words, selected.
Beethoven—Three easy Sonatas, selected.
Kullak—School of Octaves, Op. 49, book I.
Pauer—Musical forms.
Chopin—Waltzes and Mazurkas, selected.
Czerny—Etudes, Op 299.
Joseffy—School of advanced piano playing.
Overtures for four hands by popular composers.
Score playing begun.
I. Philipp—Exercises in Extension.

SENIOR YEAR.

Clementi-Tausig—Gradus ad Parnassum.
Beethoven—Three difficult Sonatas.

Kullak—Etudes, Op. 48, book II.

Chopin—Preludes, Op. 28, selected.

Schumann—Work selected from Op. 12, Op. 15, Op. 21, Op. 23, and Op. 9.

Czerny—Studies, Op. 365.

Henselt—Studies and pieces.

One concerto.

History of Music.

Concert pieces selected and memorized throughout the course.

Rio Grande College

Historical Sketch

This school owes its existence to the Christian benevolence of Deacon Nehemiah Atwood and his wife, Permelia Atwood. Mr. and Mrs. Atwood were married in 1819, and spent all of their subsequent lives in Raccoon township, Gallia county, Ohio, where they accumulated an estate of over one hundred thousand dollars. About the year 1850, Rev. Ira Z. Haning, a student of the Ohio University at Athens, Ohio, and a minister in the Freewill Baptist denomination, was preaching in Huntington and Raccoon townships, where he was instrumental in bringing about a religious reformation whose good results have ever been apparent. Under his ministry Mr. and Mrs. Atwood were converted and joined the Freewill Baptist church.

The following record is taken from their family Bible, now in the library of Rio Grande College:

"Nehemiah Atwood and Permelia, his wife, were baptized, through the mercy of God, by Bro. Ira Z. Haning, Freewill Baptist, 26th January, 1851."

From that time until their death they were active in Christian work and liberal in the support of the church and its benevolent enterprises.

Gradually the purpose of giving their entire estate to found and endow an institution for higher Christian education in the place where their lives had been spent and their estate accumulated was developed and matured. In the growth of their sentiments and plans Mr. Haning was their valued adviser.

When Mr. Atwood died, in December, 1869, these plans had been fully formed, but no steps taken to carry them out. His widow at once began to move in this direction. A campus of ten acres was laid out upon one of their farms. Around this campus the village of Rio Grande has grown up. The main college building was erected in the summer of 1875 and the boarding hall in 1876. The college began the work of instruction September 13, 1876.

The Educational Policy of the College

Rio Grande College endeavors to occupy the proper place in that great system of American education which is now clearly defined in its outline. This position is intermediate. Below the college are the common schools, the high schools, and the preparatory schools. It would be well if all appropriate work of these lower schools could be done in them. But, as it is not, most colleges have, of necessity, a preparatory department. While there are disadvantages in this, still the unity in intellectual work which is secured by having the collegiate work done by the same teachers that have conducted the preparatory work, is a compensating advantage.

In the collegiate course the aim has been well expressed by a leading American college president, as follows:

"To produce scholars whose knowledge of ancient and modern languages and literatures, higher mathematics, experimental science, political and economic history, psychology, ethics, and sociology enables them to grasp the principles of law or medicine or politics or theology; to guide social progress and form public opinion; to enjoy the companionship of wise and good men of all lands and ages; and to appreciate the results in some department of scientific or historical research."

Above the college is the university, whose work it is to train and develop those select scholars who are not simply to appropriate the things already known, but to advance the knowledge of truth in some chosen field of study.

In taking and holding this high but intermediate position, Rio Grande College aims to do its appropriate work for its students. Its success in this is demonstrated by the practical ability shown by its graduates in various forms of work, and by the excellent work done by those graduates who have taken university and professional studies.

The Religious Policy of the College

The trustees and teachers consider true religion to be the foundation of the most valuable intellectual attainments, and use all the means in their power to promote sound Christian principles among the students. In the words of the articles of association, the college was founded " to promote Chritian education." A system of education that develops only the intellect and appeals only to worldly motives is partial and incomplete. Those who are thus educated cannot have the highest form of personal worth or perform the best work for their fellow-men.

The work of inculcating religious principles and forming Christian character is pursued in no narrow and illiberal way.

Denominational Character and Religious Work

The preamble to the constitution of the college says that the purpose of its trustees will be to give, under Christian influence, a scientific, literary, and classical education. An article in the constitution requires two-thirds of the members of the board of trustees to be members of the Freewill Baptist church. From the beginning it has been the ruling idea in the work of the college that personal loyalty to Christ is the only true foundation of sound intellectual acquirements, and the only preparation for the right use of such acquirements in our divinely appointed work of life. While there has been no regular system of theological instruction, yet at different times instruction of this kind has been given such as the circumstances called for and made possible. Over thirty men who have entered the Christian ministry, over half of them in the Freewill Baptist church, have received all or an important part of their training here.

In the light of the facts above enumerated in regard to the denominational and religious character of the college, the duty of the churches to patronize it and help increase its usefulness is apparent. This duty belongs in an especial degree to ministers. One of the most important duties of the Christian pastor is to guide the minds of the young members of his charge toward the most thoro and generous preparation for their life-work.

Free Tuition for Ministerial Students

As a contribution to an enlightened and progressive Christianity, the trustees of the college give free tuition to properly accredited candidates for the Christian ministry without regard to their denominational connection. In doing this they feel that they make a legitimate claim to the support of Christian ministers and Christian people. They ask such persons to note this fact, and call the attention of young men contemplating the ministry to this provision. This privilege admits only to the regular academic work of the college, not to special theological studies or to instruction in music.

The College Library

The college library now contains 3,500 volumes. It has numerous works on history and science and is well supplied with the best reference works. Among these are the Standard Dictionary, two volumes; the Century Dictionary, Cyclopedia, and Atlas, ten volumes; Johnson's Cyclopedia, eight volumes; Encyclopedia Britannica, twenty-six volumes; Who's Who in America; Lippincott's Pronouncing Gazetteer of the World.

Geological Cabinet

The geological cabinet is the most complete and valuable single collection in the college. The specimens are mounted, classified, labeled, and protected from dust. They illustrate almost every formation described in the standard text-books on geology. Valuable additions are made every year. In teaching this subject, constant and thoro use is made of the cabinet.

Zoological Cabinet

This cabinet is small but helpful. It contains some salt water animals, shells, birds, and nests, some of the smaller vertebrates in alcohol, etc. In the insect world, the specimens are largely obtained fresh for each class. Students provide themselves with a single microscope, while compound microscopes and field glasses are furnished by the school. This study has been required in the Junior Preparatory course since 1895, and the pupils of this class are frequently taken to the woods, fields, or streams to study birds and their ways, to gather specimens of insects, to learn the food and habits of their larvae, etc.

Illustrative Apparatus for Teaching Physics and Electricity

The following new material has been added to this department: a Ritchie lever air pump, pole changer, Wheatstone slide wire bridge, electro magnet, magneto bell ringer, transmitter, receiver, tangent galvanometer, Trobridge galvanometer with acessories; extra coils, mirror needle, damping well, glass window; rotating magnet, storage battery, bichromate battery of four cells, dry battery; zinc, copper, and lead electrodes; five pounds of mercury, and copper wire of every size.

The college now has for this work in addition to the above, an Edison lamp, telegraph instrument, telephone instrument, induction coils, electric motor, rheostat, dynamo, seven-in-one vacuum tube, force pump, balances, air-pressure tube; and Leclanche, Bunsen, gravity, Daniel batteries.

The subject of electricity is now taught as a separate and distinct branch of study in the Senior year of the Scientific Course. The work covers one term. The text-book adopted is "Jackson's Electricity and Magnetism." The method adopted for class-room work divides the time equally between the subject-matter of the text-book and practical laboratory work.

Surveying Instruments

For the practical teachings of civil engineering the college possesses a first-class surveying instrument, with leveling rods, chains, and draughting instruments. That very thoro work is done in this study is shown by the fact that the engineering of the turnpikes which have been built in Gallia and Jackson counties has been done almost wholly by students of this school. The aim of this department is to combine the practical with the theoretical. Much time is spent in the field in running lines, locating corners, and laying out roads and ditches for tile draining.

Degrees and Diplomas.

Those who complete the Classical Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts; those who complete the Scientific Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Science. Graduates of not less than three years' standing who have maintined professional, literary, or scientific work and study, upon application receive respectively the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science. Those graduates who have received these advanced degrees are indicated in the list of graduates given elsewhere. A graduation fee of five dollars is charged for each of the above degrees. A graduation fee of two dollars is charged to those who complete the English and Normal Course, and three dollars to those who complete the Music course. Diplomas are given in all the above cases.

Piano

In the department of Instrumental Music pupils of all grades are received. Special attention and care are given to beginners and those who come to us with little or no knowledge of the rudiments and foundation of musical structure.

Harmony and history of music are taught free of any expense to the pupil except for books.

We do not claim to make musicians in the fullest meaning of the word, for they are born, not made; but we do claim to develop the artistic in every pupil, and any one satisfactorily completing the course may in one year's time graduate from the New England Conservatory of Music.

A good foundation being necessary for a musical education, special care is taken to develop the technic of the student.

The training of the memory is of great importance, and all the work performed in public is required to be thorolÿ memorized as well as all technical work.

No student will be advanced from one year to another without first showing by his ability and willingness to work that he is entitled to the advancement. It may be seen by this that a student may not be advanced from a junior to senior until he has been a junior from four to six or even eight terms.

Upon Graduation the pupil will be required to perform a concerto, which will be selected by the teacher of music.

Public recitals are given to enable the pupils to appear at ease when playing in public.

In both the vocal and instrumental departments the system of private lessons is used.

While many come to study music only, they often find it profitable to take one or more studies in college. The music pupils are under college discipline, and enjoy the college reading-room, library, and other privileges.

The rental for piano or organ is so small ($1.50 per term for each hour) that it enables the student to practice as many hours a day as health will permit, without incurring great expense. The expense of books and sheet music is in all cases borne by the student and is made as small as posible.

Voice

A modern course in voice culture is carried out, based upon the Italian method. Each student receives from thirty to forty-five minutes in instruction and the voice is strengthened and developed in a natural way. Chorus singing is an important part of our work.

Organ

Students who wish may take their lessons upon the organ, and a course of organ music is used in such cases.

Musical Instruments

The college owns three upright pianos, one grand piano, and one Chicago cottage organ.

Literary Societies

There are two literary societies, the Shakespearian and the Ciceronian. They hold weekly sessions on Monday evening. They are rich sources of profit to the students.

College Y. M. C. A.

Since its organization in 1882 the college Y. M. C. A. has been an important auxiliary to the work of the college. Under its auspices a prayer meeting is held in the college once a week, and classes for Bible study are kept up from time to time. During the last college year this association has fitted up a room in which all its meetings are held.

Location and Surroundings

The village of Rio Grande is thirteen miles northwest of Gallipolis, and the same distance east of Oak Hill. It is six miles from Bidwell, on the C. H. V. & T. Railroad.

The fact that there are no saloons or other places of vicious resort at Rio Grande is a matter of great importnce. Young men and women cannot safely be sent to places where these things exist. A few may be proof against temptation, but real safety is found where they do not exist. Rio Grande is free from many of the demoralizing influences found in large cities and towns.

Rhetorical Exercises

Four rhetorical exercises are required of each student each term. The members of the school are divided into rhetorical classes under the charge of the teachers. Especial assistance is given by the teachers to those who have had no previous instruction or experience in composition and speaking. The aim of this work is to train the students to speak with self-possession, grace, and energy, and to write correct and expressive English. Excellent opportunities for additional practice of this kind are afforded by the Shakespearian and Ciceronian Literary Societies. Students who do not wish to speak will be permitted to substitute written exercises.

Public Rhetorical Exercises

Public rhetorical exercises are held on Thursday evening of the ninth week of each term. These exercises are in great part declamations, but essays, orations, and discussions make part of the program at times. Those who take part are selected from the lower as well as from the more advanced classes and there are usually twelve participants in each exercise. The separate parts are short, and the aim is to train the speakers to deliver them with plainness and force. The passages to be spoken are selected with care on account of excellence in sentiment and beauty and force of language. These exercises have been of great interest and value, and are always largely attended. They have helped to develop the literary taste of both the students and the community.

Expenses

Tuition, Common English Studies, per term	$6 00
Tuition, Higher Studies, per term	7 00
Instrumental Music, per term of 20 lessons	8 00
Use of organ or piano for practice, two hours daily, per term	3 00

All dues payable at least half a term in advance.

When students do not enter at the beginning of a term, tuition is not charged for the time that has been lost.

Free Tuition under the Patterson Law

Graduates from the common schools of Ohio, under the Patterson Law, who attend Rio Grande College one term within one year after their graduation, will be admitted free of charge for the term immediately following.

Boarding

Boarding and lodging with all things furnished to the student can be obtained at $2.50 per week or less, both in the College Boarding Hall and in private houses in or near the village. Where the student furnishes fuel, lights, bedding, and toilet articles, the price is reduced.

Opportunities for self-boarding may be obtained by corresponding in advance with the president.

Reading Room

The most constantly needed of the works of reference that belong to the college library are kept in a reading-room to which the students have daily access. The reading-room is also well supplied with standard and local periodicals. The following standard periodicals have been received the present year: The American Monthly and Review of Reviews, The Century Magazine, The Atlantic Monthly, McClure's Magazine, Frank Leslie's Magazine, The Youths' Companion, The Morning Star, The Journal and Messenger, The Advocate of Peace, The American Economist, The Scientific American, The Double Cross, The Missionary Helper. In addition to these many local papers have been regularly placed in the reading-room.

The Clark Prize Contest

At the annual meeting in June, 1898, the Board of Trustees, by unanimous vote, approved a plan submitted by Prof. C. O. Clark, of establishing a prize contest in thought, composition, and delivery of orations.

The plan is to raise a permanent fund of five hundred dollars by donations from persons bearing the name of Clark, and to use its interest from year to year in awarding prizes, consisting of books, for the best work, as above mentioned.

The plan provides that whenever one hundred dollars shall have been received by the treasurer of the college for this purpose, it shall be turned over to Messrs. Wood and Fulton, trustees of the endowment fund, or their successors, as a permanent fund for the purpose herein stated.

Already one hundred dollars have been secured and turned over to the trustees of the permanent fund, with twenty dollars in the hands of the treasurer towards the second hundred.

All donations to this fund may be sent to C. O. Clark, college treasurer, who will promptly acknowledge the same and make the proper record thereof.

The names, post-office address, and gifts of all donors will be carefully preserved in the archives of the college.

Rules Governing the Contest

There shall be one contest for first and second prize from junior and senior classes; one from the freshman and sophomore classes; and one including all other students.

If in any contest but two compete, but one first prize shall be given, the second going to the library; and if at any time there be no competition, both prizes shall be given to the library.

The number of words for juniors and seniors, freshmen and sophomores, must not be less than 1,000, or more than 2,000; and the number for all other students must not be less than 800 or more than 1,500.

The orations from all contestants in the college department must be handed in to the president of the college, to be passed upon by the faculty in thought and composition, by the end of the second week of each fourth or last term of the college year, and all others by the end of the fourth week. They must all be handed in signed with a fictitions name.

No contestant shall be permitted to receive more than two hours' drill from any one of the teachers of the college.

The contest shall be held the week preceding commencement, the night to be designated by the faculty.

The presiding officer shall choose three persons to decide upon the merits of the denvery.

The faculty shall decide to whom the prizes shall be given, making the award upon the merits of the thought, composition, and delivery; and all prizes shall be awarded by the president of the college upon Commencement Day.

There was no competition for this prize in the spring of 1907.

What the College Claims

In view of the thoro and practical instruction given in all departments; of the present facilities for illustrating by proper apparatus and material the studies that require such illustration; of the fact that substantial additions are made to library, apparatus, etc., every year; of the important fact that the students are brought into close personal relations with the teachers daily, and receive careful personal attention at each recitation; and lastly, in view of the positions which the graduates and advanced students have been able to secure and retain,—the trustees claim for Rio Grande College a standing among the educational institutions, and the claim is recognized wherever the college and its work are known.

In addition the trustees confidently assert that the advantages here offered are provided at as small expense to the students as by any other school of like grade in the country. There are very few institutions of equal rank where expenses are not much greater.

Parents desiring to educate their children, and thoughtful young men and women desiring to educate themselves, are invited to consider these facts before deciding that it is impossible to secure a higher education. To all the people in Southeastern Ohio and the adjacent parts of West Virginia and Kentucky, Rio Grande College affords the opportunity of a college education at a smaller cost than they can secure it elsewhere. Many have secured such an education here who could not have done so elsewhere. Students from a distance can attend here and save much more than the cost of travel. Those who are poor in this world's goods, are often rich in talent and character. To such persons Rio Grande College opens wide the door of opportunity.

How to Help Rio Grande College

Those who receive and read this catalog are earnestly requested to consider the following suggestions as to ways in which they can help the college extend its noble influence in the world:—

1. By securing students. A word spoken in season may cause some young person to take a course that will increase his personal success and public usefulness beyond all computation. Do not speak that word only when the opportunity is thrust upon you, but seek the opportunity.

2. By sending to the college officers the names and addresses of persons to whom it would be profitable to send catalog and circulars for the purpose of securing students, and of persons who would respond favorably to an invitation to contribute to its funds.

3. By contributing personally to the endowment fund. While this is a time in which large and almost startling gifts are being made to educational institutions, it is also a time in which some of the grandest agencies for good are being established by a multitude of smaller gifts. In the latter way it is entirely possible for the friends of Rio Grande College to make it rich and strong for the great and enduring usefulness for which it is destined. Let no friend, therefore, withhold his gift because it cannot be large. It is well to remember that if a large number of donors here concentrate their moderate donations, this may hereafter attract some great and princely gift.

The trustees ardently hope that these considerations will have full weight with those who read this catalog. They earnestly desire the widest and most liberal co-operation of all true friends of higher Christian education.

Alumni Association

This association was organized in 1892. The present officers are: C. E. Davis, Gallipolis, Ohio, president; Lida S. Lucas, Cheshire, Ohio, vice-president; Mollie Fulton, Rio Grande, Ohio, secretary; M. R. McDaniel, Rushville, Ind., treasurer; Bessie Gibbons, Raccoon Island, Ohio, J. W. Jones, Gallipolis, Ohio, Carrie Davis, Rio Grande, Ohio, executive committee.

Following is given a list of graduates of the college. It is proposed to include a list of graduates in each annual catalog hereafter, with the residence and occupation of each one at the time of the publication of the catalog. Catalogs will be mailed to all, and it is desired that any correction or change in residence or occupation be promptly reported to the secretary of the college.

Endowment

The present endowment fund is $76,000. It is derived from the estate of Mrs. Permelia Atwood and draws six per cent. interest. The college is now engaged in the work of raising an additional sum of $75,000. Mr. Andrew Carnegie has promised to give $25,000 of this amount when the college has secured $50,000 in cash or realizable securities. The Board of Trustees at the annual meeting on June 13th, 1906, instructed President Davis to work for the securing of this sum. The result of the work to July 1, 1907, is given below. As there is no limit to Mr. Carnegie's offer, the work of raising money will be continued. Altho but a small part of the required amount has so far been secured, the effort to secure the entire sum will be put forth hopefully. There are good reasons to believe that much greater progress can be made during the coming college year. Again the liberal assistance of all friends of Rio Grande College is solicited.
